Proceeds from Civitans' murder mystery given to Hospital fundraising campaign

The Help Improve Tomorrow Today! campaign is pleased to announce that the Carleton Place & District Civitans have donated $10,000 towards new equipment for the Carleton Place & District Memorial Hospital. The funds were raised through the murder mystery "Who's Killing the Carleton Place Docs" held on May 7, 2004.

"This donation will bring us closer to reaching our $1.5 million goal and I would like to thank the Civitans and all associated with the murder mystery for their generosity," stated Terry Elder, Treasurer of the CPDMH Foundation.

"I'm honoured that the Civitans choose our Hospital and our fundraising campaign to be recipients of the proceeds from the murder mystery," stated Norine Primeau, AED Patient Services. "The Civitans worked hard to make the night a success and their efforts showed. It was a very entertaining evening and I hope they decide to do a similar event in the future."

The Help Improve Tomorrow Today! campaign is trying to raise $1.5 million over three years to purchase new medical equipment for the Carleton Place & District Memorial Hospital. One time donations or pledges over 1-3 years are accepted and all donations are tax deductible. Community residents, local businesses and service clubs are being encouraged to give. For more information on the campaign or to give please call the campaign office at 613-257-2200 ext 856 or e-mail ctroy@carletonplacehosp.com.
